Dear Bill:

I sincerely appreciated your note of May 26 about Foster. A great tribute was paid to him here the other day.

Also, I appreciated what you had to say about my own work. I have no thought of dropping it.

Clover joins me in messages to you both.

Sincerely,

The friendly affirmation ~

"Two thousand years ago a young rabbi, a teacher, heard this call to make love, brotherhood, and justice, the dynamic of all people ~ people of every race, creed, and color.

"All were invited into The Kingdom.
"It was a big order ~ too big ~ for some; although a few believed ~ their hearts on fire ~ alive.

"The others ~ "

"Who is this 'God'?"

....

He flipped a silver coin ~ and there it was:
"In God We Trust"

He was a happy, smiling youngster.
He was an American.
He wanted to know.

I picked up the challenge and asked, "Do you believe in love?"
"Oh ~ that's chemistry!" he parried.

As I drew the outline of the Cross,
a new spirit seemed to stir us.

In God We Trust —
to furthur those principles of love, brotherhood, and justice,
which we, as men of goodwill,
must defend — unto death.

We were friends.

Friends!

Our hearts were strangely warmed — alive!

It was the friendly affirmation:

In God We Trust!

CLEGS.

— ALL ! ”

“ Does your mother love you ? ”
“ Your sister ? ”
“ Your father ? ”
“ Your sweetheart — ”

“ Yes — I suppose so.”
He was casual — as he watched me draw a slanting
line on an old envelope:

LOVE

“ The Star of David ! ” we chimed.

“ True — the shield and defense of God’s people of every creed, ” I ventured.

"You follow me ~ don't you ? "

"Sure ~ go ahead ! "

He was interested.

"Love, brotherhood, justice ~ ~ for all people ~ men, women, and children ~

~ be they :

"Do you believe in brotherhood ~ that under the skin all men are

"I certainly do ! "

He was an idealist.

I drew a horizontal line meeting the first :

"Do you believe in justice ?"
"In social and economic justice~"
I added with just a tinge of ballyhoo.

"I surely do !"
He was a realist.

I completed the triangle :

"Have you a heart ?"
"~a conscience ?"
I pried.

"Everybody has ~ more or less."
He was an optimist.

I drew the outline of a heart :

MEMORIAM

JOHN FOSTER DULLES
